Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 13 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Low cloud advancing overnight. Drier Friday, becoming brighter later.

This Evening and Tonight:
Chilly during the evening and overnight, as showers soon fade under the advance of low cloud and mist from coastal districts. A slight frost is perhaps possible in more sheltered Pennine valleys. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Friday:
Cloudy, misty and cool, however this should break up somewhat as the day progresses. Generally fewer, lighter showers then preceding days, staying dry for most with late sunny intervals. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Rather cloudy and cool through this period, with patchy rain perhaps stalling over the area for a time. Probably brighter but more showery into the new week. Slight rural frosts.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.